

In the Animal Kingdom

The Destruction of Gaza

This is happening in 2025 and the whole world is powerless in the presence of such nastiness and cruelty. This is colonialism in the 21st Century, with so much bloodshed, and starvation as a weapon of destruction used by a regime who claims it is acting on divine command. Sitting and watching wherever he is, that divinity must love blood, “I want more”, he tells his people, and they give him more.

Throughout the ages in the Animal Kingdom, since the creature known as man has evolved from the jungles, tribes have been destroying tribes to feed themselves because they needed flesh to eat, and because they always want more and more territories for themselves. In the beginning when there was no food, as we know today, the primitive creatures within one tribe used to feed on the flesh of the creatures of other tribes within the jungle. No skyscrapers, as yet. They were cannibalistic. Today, the primitive creatures have become civilised, but the killing instinct is still in them. They may have left the jungle has not left them From such arms as bows and arrows, they have developed weapons of mass destruction.

After the World War II, the Jews, who were wandering in Europe, known as the Jewish Diaspora, did not want to go to Israel, the Home of the Jews. They set their sight on other lands nearby, on Palestine, a country with common border with Israel. Palestine was then Arabic, with a very small Jewish community who had migrated from nearby Israel.

Historically, during World War I, British Prime Lord Arthur Balfour, in order to cajole America, controlled by the Jews, to support Britain in its war against Germany, declared in 1917 the intention of colonial Britain to convert its protectorate of Palestine into a home for the wandering Jews of Europe. At the same time, Balfour’s intention was also to plant a powerful pro-Britain Jewish colony within the Arab world. This was colonisation in its most vicious form. British colonialism did the same in Ireland where a colony of English people was planted in order to carve out Northern Ireland as a Protestant territory in 1921. Divide and rule was the policy of the British. All that is related in the Diplomatic History of Britain.

The wandering Jews of Europe seized the opportunity of the Balfour Declaration to militate for a homeland in Palestine, not in Israel itself which is there in the Middle East as the homeland of the Jews. They travelled to Palestine and started to terrorise the inhabitants. They seized the properties of the Palestinians and drove them away from their homes. From the 1920s, it became a problem for colonial Britain to cope with Jewish terrorist leaders like Menachem Begin and others. Begin later became Prime Minister of Israel. This persecution has been going on for nearly 100 years until Hamas, a group among the Palestinians attacked the Jews and took hostages. UN Secretary-General, António Guterres, said the attack was the result of decades of oppression.

The United Nations Organisation has come up with the proposal of a two-state solution, dividing Palestine into two nations. The Palestinians, though it is their homeland, accept the proposal while the Johnny-come-lately Jews refused such a proposal. They came as tenants, now they want to rule as masters, and to chase away the home owners. Their claim that this is also part of the promised land given to them by their god. The Jews want the whole of Palestine for themselves and to annex it to Israel. Netanyahu, who was under investigation for corruption in Israel before attacking the Palestinians has said “There will be no two-state solution.”

Netanyahu has embarked on a pogrom to wipe out the Palestinians, from babies to the elderlies, men. women and children, condoned by the Ruler of the World, America, led by Donald Trump as the Grand Manitou and under the influence of racists and fascists, the Pharisees, the self-righteous elements of America. Netanyahu, careful not to venture too far north of Palestine to the West Bank is making a hell for people closer to Israel in the Gaza Strip. The extermination of the people of Gaza is almost complete through incessant bombing and murders.

At the very time of writing this article, there are reports of people in Gaza being killed, though the Grand Manitou is posing himself as the peacemaker. The soil of Gaza is soaked with the blood of Palestinians. Once the Gaza Strip is devoid of Palestinians, the Grand Manitou will help to convert the strip, bordering the Mediterranean sea, into a Jewish Riviera. It is reported that a war-monger like Britisher Tony Blair is standing by to be appointed Governor Supreme of Palestine. Blair initiated the Iraq War falsely spreading the rumour of the accumulation Weapons of Massive Destruction in the country.

Massive destruction and annihilation of Gaza the jews by has been going on relentlessly for the past two years-

Will these children ever forget and forgive the atrocities of the Jews. They could be the seeds of future re-venge action planted by the Jew leader Netanyahu

NEWSLETTER OF SEPTEMBER 2025 (Extract)

Editorial

Hi folks

Another month gone by, soon it will be the festive season. So it is high time for you to prepare your Christmas shopping list and look for your Xmas decorations. October has seen our annual sand castle competition. As usual, it was very successful with many participants showing their undisputed talents. You will find a comprehensive report from my friend Krishna who is multi-talented.

A big thank you to all our members who answered present on the day in order to make the event a resounding success.

Until next month.

Sand Sculpture Festival 2025

La 3e édition du Festival de sculptures sur sable, organisée par le « Force Vive de Flic-en-Flac », a été un véritable succès grâce au soutien de ses membres. Nous avons accueilli 65 participants de tous âges : des groupes d'élèves de l'école primaire, des étudiants de l'École des Beaux-Arts MGI et de l'Académie de Design et d'Innovation, des familles et des groupes d'artistes. Ils ont créé de magnifiques sculptures à partir de deux matériaux naturels, symboles de notre identité insulaire : le sable et l'eau de mer. Par cette belle journée ensoleillée, le public a pu admirer le processus créatif et apprécier les œuvres exceptionnelles qui reflétaient notre lien avec la nature, transformant ainsi la plage en une galerie d'art à ciel ouvert.

M. Ramesh Munroo, membre de longue date de Force Vive, est le fondateur du festival. Bien qu'il réside désormais à Londres, il a fait le voyage spécialement pour être présent et participer à l'organisation de cette troisième édition.

Le Grand Prix, Prix Professionnel, a été décerné à M. Sanjay Jhowree, sculpteur sur sable renommé qui travaille régulièrement sur la plage de Péreybère. Il a été assisté de Roshan Poonith.

Sa sculpture, d'une excellente qualité technique, a magistralement traduit son concept en une composition vibrante illustrant la nature complexe et multiforme de la relation homme-animal ; elle illustre le rôle de l'empathie, de l'attachement et de l'anthropomorphisme dans ce lien. Un travail minutieux et riche en émotions.

« Stop Blaming Us » est une autre œuvre qui mérite notre attention. Une œuvre touchante sur les chiens errants, sculptée par la famille Marie : Clarel, Danielle et Gaëlle. Les chiens errants allongés sur un nénuphar témoignent de la fragilité de la vie de ces chiens, qui ne sont pas responsables de leur sort. Il appartient aux humains d'apprendre à les traiter avec respect et bienveillance.

Le 1er Prix du Jeune Artiste a été décerné à Olivier Lajoie et à son groupe : Rachelle Lajoie et Abhinav Dussoye.

Leur sculpture « Mama laterre Moris » parle de notre responsabilité en tant qu'habitants humains de cette île paradisiaque, de notre impact sur la nature, des effets négatifs de la pollution sur le milieu marin.

Le Prix des Enfants a été décerné au groupe de Keilyne Quessy. Ces enfants ont fait appel à leur imagination créatrice et à leur talent pour les châteaux de sable pour créer une œuvre merveilleuse.

Une autre œuvre primée, réalisée par le groupe Christ, Shrutty et Sandhaya, témoigne d'une approche hautement habile. Leur sculpture d'une pieuvre rappelle symboliquement l'exploitation incessante des lagons par l'homme. Pourtant, comme le suggère cette sculpture, la nature est résiliente. La pieuvre, émergeant du sable, semble reprendre sa place légitime, symbolisant la force silencieuse mais puissante de la nature qui nous repousse.

Stray Dogs Control

Dog ownership registration

From 1 October 2025, all dog owners must have their pets registered with the Mauritius Society for Animal Welfare (MSAW). The dogs be provided with a microchip storing particulars of ownership, address and a registration number.

Dog owners who fail to register their pets will be fined up to Rs100,000. The question is that when a stray dog is picked up on the street, how will it be possible for MSAW to establish ownership if the stray dog has no proprietor? Once an MSAW inspector comes across a stray dog on the street, will the dog be taken away to a stray dog compound to be destroyed?

In the past, we believe that it was the local authorities who were responsible for the removal of stray dogs from the streets within their jurisdiction. The dogs were taken to a compound and kept for a while, allowing owners the opportunity to claim their pets back. Unclaimed animals were destroyed. We believe that a certain Indian veterinary, Dr Shuja, had set up a an organisation, Mauritius Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animal (MSPCA) to deal with the stray dogs. Later, the authorities introduced legislation for all dogs wear collars to which the names and addresses of their proprietors were attached. In the course of time, all those practices died of their own death.

These days, stray dogs on public thoroughfares have become a real nuisance and are a danger to both vehicles and members of the public. The Government is supporting the NGO MSAW in its effort to Eliminate the existence of stray dogs on the highway. MSAW's director, Mr Tinagaren Govindasamy has made it known of the government's intention to have the upperhand of the issue invoking the legal provision for the rigid application of the law to eliminate the problem of stray dogs.

Champ de Mars

In a previous issue we printed pictures of dumped rubbish on the ground of the Champ de Mars, the hippodrome of Port Louis. We can now say that the Champ de Mars is also the playground of numerous stray dogs which haunt the area everyday, leaving their mess all over the place. The worst is when it is done on the nearby pavement on which passers-by inadvertently tread.

So the question is asked who is responsible for the maintenance of the Champ de Mars to ensure that stray dogs are cared for. These stray dogs live in the open air and sleep in the open air. Without owners, they will not be registered nor be provided with a microchip.

Some residents of the area bring cooked food to those stray dogs. The places where food is left, becomes messy with food scattered over the ground. This will not be cleaned by anybody. The dustmen on the lorry of the Municipality of Port Louis pick up a few branches fallen on the ground and empty the municipal dustbins. The stray dogs will continue to be there.

Me Rouben Mouroungapillay reflects on the cancellation of the Provisional Charges against his clients Bruneau and Ryan Laurette

The decision taken by the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP) is commendable and is likely to strengthen public confidence in this institution, which has consistently demonstrated its independence. The people of Mauritius will recall past attempts by the former regime to subordinate the authority of the DPP to that of the Executive. Had those efforts succeeded and the Prosecution Commission been established, the country would have moved a step closer to dictatorship, with the DPP’s powers being severely diminished.

When Shakeel Mohamed and I represented Bruneau and Ryan Laurette, we faced significant resistance and hardship in defending our clients. We held volumes of information supporting their version of events and reinforcing our belief in their innocence. Despite the pressure exerted on us, we stood firm, acting without fear of retaliation and in full compliance with our Code of Ethics. The decision of the DPP only strengthens my resolve to continue to act in this way.

Today, I also spare a thought for a former SST officer, who was also my client, and who demonstrated remarkable courage in reporting misconduct within the SST in the case of Vimen Sabapati. She provided evidence indicating that the SST team planted incriminating evidence in that case, thus undermining their credibility. A provisional charge can only be lodged against a suspect if there is reasonable suspicion that an offence has been committed by them. Evidence of this reasonable suspicion emanates from the enquiring team of police officers. When a motion is made to strike out provisional charges, these police officers are called upon to give evidence before the Court to justify their reasonable suspicion. At that point in time, their credibility is key to convincing the magistrate to maintain the provisional charge. In the case of Vimen, the video footage of what actually happened severely undermines the credibility of the police.

Additionally, the Safe City footage which have been submitted to the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) clearly contradict the version recorded by SST officers in the Occurrence Book (OB) and in their statements. These falsehoods denunciations amount to offences on their part and shift suspicion away from the accused and onto the police. In the teeth of such evidence, it would be nearly impossible for any judge or magistrate to accept the version of the police and to uphold the provisional charge. A strike out was imminent and the decision of the DPP is consistent with this.

The version of Sabapati, supported by evidence in his case, further lend credence to the version of Bruneau Laurette that evidence was planted in his case as well, and I have highlighted this in my submissions to the court. In my view, the DPP likely considered these factors when deciding—after consultation with the Commissioner of Police—to strike out the provisional charges. I take this opportunity to thank both the DPP and the Commissioner of Police, and I remain confident that further inquiry will reveal no grounds to proceed with any main case or criminal charges against my clients, particularly in light of the strong evidence pointing to evidence-planting.

This decision is a victory for the legal teams who have worked tirelessly to defend their clients’ rights with the seriousness and compassion that justice demands. Credit must also go to the Commissioner of Police, Mr. Ravin Sooroojally, and the DPP, Mr. Rashid Ahmine. Finally, I wish to stress that the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC), in its current form, serves no real purpose. There is an urgent need to review its founding statute and either restructure its administration or place it under the authority of the Human Rights Division, currently headed by former DPP Mr. Satyajit Boolell, SC. It is essential to ensure that cases brought before this institution are handled promptly. As it stands, the IPCC represents a misuse of public resources, despite the goodwill and hard work of competent investigators who are rendered powerless when their recommendations are ignored. Reform of the law governing complaints against the police and related investigations has become an urgent necessity for the health of our democracy.
